SERVICE RECOGNITION AWARD NOMINATION CRITERIA

The mission of the YuDian Community Service Board is to promote youth volunteerism as a vehicle for healing of body, mind, and spirit.

This community service award differs from many in that it is intended to recognize and honor a high school student of Asian descent who has demonstrated special initiative in providing volunteer service to his or her community.

Recipients of this award will be recognized at a luncheon in their honor given by the Yudian Community Service Board each year.

In the selection of the recipient of the YuDian Community Service Board Service Recognition Award, the following criteria will be considered.

- Student showed special initiative in pursuing community service.
- Student demonstrated leadership skills through their community service.

The YuDian Community Service Board is named for YuDian He, a Denver high school student who overcame profound physical and cognitive challenges following a devastating automobile accident that resulted in paralysis and traumatic brain injury. One of YuDian's routes to health was through providing community service to others, and this resulted in his receiving significant awards for his community service. Monies he received from these awards formed the original fund of this award for which you are considering nominating a student.
